

To be blunt, why should companies and organizations be allowed to bother me at home with phone solicitations if I choose to opt out of such annoyances? I have never purchased anything from them and won't in the future.